

1992 National Championship:

Chinkapin's Bisco Buck

(Joe G. Walker, Reporter)

Chinkapin Bisco Buck's initial performance on Tuesday of the first week was one of quality, if not quantity. His ground race was strong and forward, running to the extremes the first half before settling to more moderation the second half. Hicks handled from right in front of the judiciary throughout, using his scout, Charlie Ward, as needed. Buck's four finds were on a day when birds weren't moving. At least three of the finds were of the "dug-up" variety. His bracemate, Hall's Main Addition, a good bird-finder, had no finds at all. Buck's four finds were perfection, located right in front of the dog's nose with beautiful style and manners. His finds came at 30, 1:46, 1:51, and 2:59. No other dog found over four coveys on the morning course. Being lost in the callback, likely on point, was unfortunate.
